BSA FACTOID: We all enjoy reading our subscription to Boy's Life (and especially the jokes), But did you know...The first issue of Barton's Boys' Life was published on January 1, 1911. Five thousand copies were printed of that first issue. Very few of those copies actually reached the public. The widely accepted first edition was published on March 1, 1911. With this issue, the magazine was expanded from eight to 48 pages, the page size was reduced, and a two-color cover was added. In 1912, the Boy Scouts of America purchased the magazine, making it an official BSA magazine. BSA paid $6,000 ($1 per subscriber) for the magazine. Today, BSA sends out more than 1,200,000 copies of the Boy's Life Magazine, every month.
